

I have a profound hearing loss and use captioned TV for all my Tv viewing. It is the one thing that I can truthfully say has kept me connected to the hearing world. There are still needs for more captions, especially in local TV channels, like the weather etc. We have a PBS (WITF) channel that does not caption all their programs and we have a local PCN channel that doesn't caption. I look forward to watching their local tour of factory's with captions as it's so interesting. My hope is to someday have captions for everything. I remember when my mother (who was also deaf) got one of the 1st decoders, many years ago, her choices were about 1 or 2 programs, so I feel grateful for all the programs there are. Thank you for reading my comments.
